

STREETS AHEAD

Pedestrian safety

Motorists, motorcyclists, cyclists and pedestrians have a joint responsibility to share the road respectfully and safely.

Pedestrians are vulnerable road users, so extra care is needed from all road users.

Drivers must give way to pedestrians:

- when turning;
- when making a U-turn;
- at all intersections and stop signs;
- slip lane with a 'stop' sign or 'stop' line.

Pedestrians should always be alert and aware when crossing at traffic lights, which must be green. If the pedestrian light is red, either steady or flashing, do not step off the kerb. If you have already started crossing when the green light turns red, continue to cross safely.
